DR. LEWIS PRICHARD

A recent visitor of note in this city was Dr. Lewis Prichard, a Kentuckian born but now one of the wealthest citizens of West Virginia. He came to Louisa to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. Victoria Prichard, the widow of his brother, Richard. Dr. Prichard is the last of several brothers, men of prominence in Eastern Kentucky. For many years he was a successful medical practitioner at Grayson, Ky., but he several years ago took Shakesptare's advice and threw physic to the dogs, so to speak, and went to Charleston, where he went into the banking business. Since the last issue of the NEWS and now he is worth several millions of dollars. He recently disposed of his instructor, has been occupying the attention of the course.

During the administration of the late Gov. Knott, a law was enacted requir-ink certain physicians to go before a board of medicial examiners and pass an examination before they could legally practice medicine. The Govern-or appointed for this judicial district a board consisting of Dr. M. Strong, of Paintsville, Dr. J. M. Montmullin, of Ashland, Drs. S. J. Yates and G. W. Wroten, of Louisa, and Dr. Louis Prich-ard, of Grayson. Of this number only the two latter are living.
